

Access to College during Easter Term

Before the end of Undergraduate exams in the Easter term, tourists will be prevented from passing into College beyond the Porters' Lodge. This decision comes after incidents of tourists in the Library, and in Old Court - while students were sitting (as permitted) on Old Court Lawn. The normal 'Closed to Visitors' sign will be displayed, not a 'Closed for Examinations' sign, and the front gates will not be closed during the examination period (except at night as normal). This will ensure that life at Corpus continues as close to normal as possible.
